Since I originally created this harmonic index approximately 10 years ago for use in my teaching, it has come to light that many songs known as traditional American folk melodies actually have roots in minstrelsy or other racist origins. I have since chosen to no longer use these songs in my teaching practice because I believe they have no place in the education of our young people. I considered removing these songs from this appendix but instead chose to leave them here (marked ) to raise awareness of this issue. I encourage you to seek out information on the background of these songs and consider removing them from your teaching practice as well.
